

HOW TO

KICKOFF an IPS Program INDIANA STYLE

By Ann Sattley, Susan Gray and Emily Singer

Technology is a happy medium between didactic lectures and forced interactive training. We use a platform called Vevox for surveys and questions.

TECH USE

Skits are effective teaching tools because they captivate the audience's attention by demonstrating real-life application.

ACTING

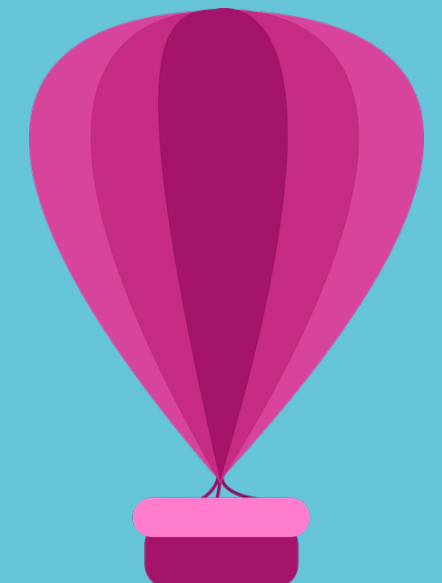

The use of video in training seminars aids learning by providing visual and auditory stimuli, enhancing comprehension through dynamic content presentation.

VIDEO

Liftoff! The theme of our kickoff exudes energy, positivity, and upward momentum for a dynamic and successful launch.

INSPIRE

FEEDBACK

It was a wonderful presentation with a positive focus! It's so wonderful to hear that work is a major point of recovery for men and women with mental health struggles.

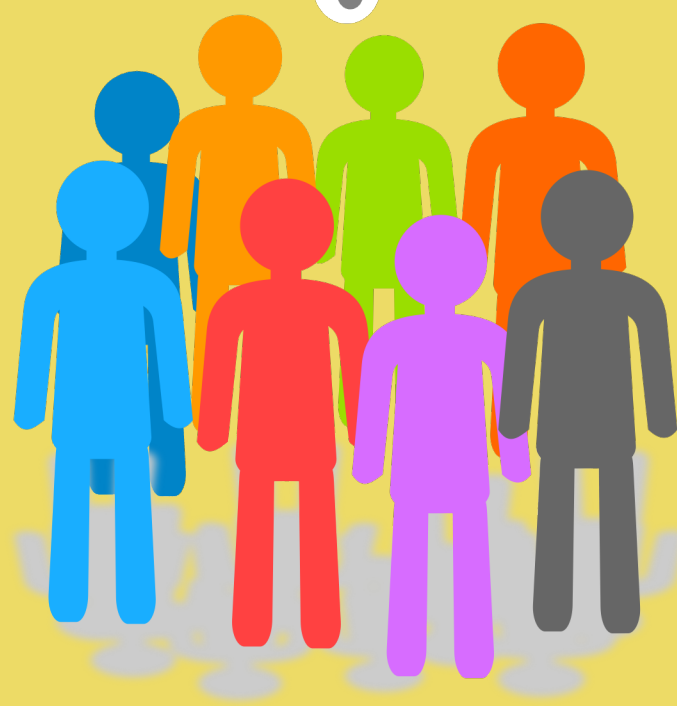

My favorite part of the event was the excitement of the trainers and feeling like we are going to be supported during the process.

I enjoyed that everyone was passionate about what they were talking and training on.

PLAY

Incorporate activities at the end of training to reinforce learning in a fun and engaging way.

DIVERSITY

Inviting a diverse group to the kickoff fosters buy-in to the program by promoting varied perspectives and creating an inclusive learning environment.

INFORM

Blend resources for foundational knowledge with varied learning methods to create a comprehensive training approach.

BE REAL

Being yourself as a presenter builds trust and engages the audience effectively.
